

Mac Everett: Rothenberg deserves another term

My councillor, Quaverly Rothenberg, has gone far beyond listening politely to me. She has really heard my concerns about many issues including school funding, zoning policy and infrastructure maintenance in Ward 3 and beyond. In taking her positions, she has been unafraid to express a minority point of view. She has been criticized for being too abrasive. But over-prioritizing a more cordial process may discourage debate, risks sacrificing a full airing of tough issues and impedes finding better solutions to complex problems. She has devoted herself to this difficult work. With one term behind her, I think she has learned a great deal on the job and deserves another.
